DISCUSSION GUIDE

Message Summary.
If Jesus has already won, why does following Him still feel like a battle? Revelation 12 shows Jesus reigning while His people face opposition. God keeps His promises, answers the accuser, and sustains His people. We can trust God's promises, rest in Jesus's victory, and keep following Him, even when faithfulness is costly.

Key Scripture Summaries.
Revelation 12:1-6 | The dragon seeks to destroy the child, but Jesus is brought to God's throne, and God prepares a place for the woman.
Revelation 12:7-12 | The dragon is cast down. Believers overcome through the Lamb's blood and their testimony, remaining faithful even when facing death.
Revelation 12:13-17 | The dragon pursues God's people. God provides for the woman. Her offspring obey God and hold to their testimony about Jesus.
Romans 8:33-34 | God justifies His people, and the risen Jesus intercedes for them.
Ephesians 6:12 | Recognizing spiritual evil changes how we respond to the people who oppose us.

Start Talking.
1. What is something you find especially hard to wait for? What makes waiting difficult?
2. When has doing the right thing made a situation more difficult instead of easier?

Start Thinking.
- Read Revelation 12:1-6 and Genesis 3:15. How does the conflict between the serpent and the woman's offspring help you understand this scene?
- Read Revelation 12:6, 13-16 and Exodus 19:4. What do the wilderness, eagle's wings, and prepared place show you about God's care?
- Read Revelation 12:10-11 and Romans 8:33-34. What gives believers grounds to answer the accuser? What does Jesus do for them?
- Why does heaven call these believers victorious even when their faithfulness costs them their lives? How does that challenge your definition of winning?
- Read Revelation 12:17 and Ephesians 6:12. How can recognizing the spiritual conflict help us resist evil while still loving people?

Start Sharing.
1. Where do you most feel the tension between Jesus's victory and an ongoing battle in your life?
2. How have you experienced God's care while a difficult situation remained unresolved?
3. If you are comfortable sharing, what accusation tends to stick with you? How might you distinguish what to confess or change from what to reject as a lie?
4. What currently threatens to overwhelm your trust in Jesus? What would receiving God's help look like in that situation?
5. Who is difficult for you to love or pray for? How could seeking their good change the way you respond to them?

Start Praying.
Jesus, thank You for giving Your life for us and rising again. Help us trust Your promises when we feel overwhelmed. Give us honesty to confess sin and confidence to receive Your forgiveness. Strengthen those facing persecution. Teach us to love people who oppose us, and help us support one another as we keep following You. Amen.

Start Doing.
- Read Revelation 12.
- Choose a place to stay faithful to Jesus when it would be easier to give in.
- Write down an accusation you have been carrying. Find a passage that speaks to it.
- Share your step with someone in the group. Ask them to pray and check in this week.
- Pray by name for someone you find difficult to love.
